

Investment Objective

The objective of the Fund is to generate a constant stream of cash flows by investing into Reverse Convertibles (RCs), Structured Notes, derivatives and cash or cash equivalent instruments.

Investment Strategy

The Fund will invest primarily in Auto-Callable Reverse Convertible and other Structured Notes related to equity, currency, commodities and indexes, derivatives and cash or cash equivalent instruments [for liquidity purposes]. The investment process is designed to harvest markets' volatility and convert it into cash flows whilst controlling the idiosyncratic risk of any single name investment exposure and the related business sector via concentration limits.

Major Fund Allocation changes

May 2025 didn't bring about any change in the fund allocation with only one line maturing towards the end of the month, proceeds of which were promptly rolled over RCF 58 and RCF 59. The Net Asset Value (NAV) recovered following the performance of the underlying US Stock market and the Fund remains fully invested.

General Considerations on the stock market

The US equity reference index recovered past losses with a 5.8% May positive performance that was just enough to bring the total return for 2025 at around 1.4% all in. Funding levels suffered from the reduced international appeal of the greenback and increased by 25 bps. At the same time the implied volatility of stocks, as measured by the VIX index, closed below the 19% mark, down from 25% at the end of April. The level of uncertainty around US fiscal, trade and monetary policy persists.

Important Risk Considerations
■ Counterparty risk a party that the Portfolio transacts with may fail to meet its obligations which could cause losses. ■ Custodian risk insolvency, breaches of duty of care or misconduct of a custodian or sub-custodian responsible for the safekeeping of the Portfolio's assets can result in loss to the Portfolio. ■ Derivatives risk derivative instruments are highly sensitive to changes in the value of the underlying asset that they are based on. Certain derivatives may result in losses greater than the amount originally invested. ■ Exchange rate risk changes in exchange rates may reduce or increase the returns an investor might expect to receive independent of the performance of such assets. If applicable, investment techniques used to attempt to reduce the risk of currency movements (hedging), may not be effective. Hedging also involves additional risks associated with derivatives. ■ Liquidity risk the Portfolio may not always find another party willing to purchase an asset that the Portfolio wants to sell which could impact the Portfolio's ability to meet redemption requests on demand. ■ Market risk the value of assets in the Portfolio is typically dictated by a number of factors, including the confidence levels of the market in which they are traded. ■ Operational risk material losses to the Portfolio may arise as a result of human error, system and/or process failures, inadequate procedures or controls.
